nutritionDay is a worldwide initiative aiming to raise awareness on disease-related malnutrition in healthcare institutions and to enhance the quality of nutrition care nutritionDay is carried out every year in November as a 1-day cross-sectional audit, and it represents one of the largest international databases of hospitalized patients.

On a specific day, nDay, hospital wards and nursing homes around the world collect their unit's anonymized data and upload them to the nDay worldwide database.

Participating units receive a free multidata graphical report which compares unit's results to a worldwide reference. The report shows specific quality indicators of nutrition care and sets the basis for benchmarking and continuous monitoring of nutrition care within the unit.
